

I am unhappy that someone is trying to change Wisconsin's no call list. I HATE getting calls from telemarketers and NEVER buy anything over the phone. All I get is: Interruptions during the few hours of family time that I have; and phone conversations with rude telemarketers who do not take no for an answer. I don't enjoy being nasty to these people on the phone, but find I must hang up on them or be bullied into an unpleasant conversation with the telemarketer. In fact, instead of a no call list, I think there should be a "call" list-- a list that you can put your name and phone number on if you are willing to get these horrible telemarketing calls.

Sincerely,

Rosie Putman
